ONE RESCUED ALIVE AND FIVE BODIES IN MINE ARE REMOVED

KNOWN LIST OF DEAD REACHES 72 IN TRAGEDY

Frank Bucsha, One of 210 Buried, Found Living After 55 Hours Of Prison

MATHER, Pa., May 22.—Five more bodies were brought from the Mather mine at 8 a. m., today, bringing the known death list in Saturday's explosion to 72.

—The news of the Bucsha rescue spread rapidly throughout the little mining village and new hope was born that more of the 135 miners still missing will be found alive.

The death toll stood at 72 and the survivors at 13 when Bucsha was rescued by Bruce Veal.

Perched upon a rail, waiting for death or rescue, Bucsha was found by Veal one and a half miles from the shaft entrance to the mine and more than 300 feet underground. He was in but 22.

Find Friend's Body.
Bucsha said another man whose name he did not know stayed a long time with him in the little dark pit, but became restless and started to grope his way out. The rescuers said they passed the body of Bucsha's friend only a short distance from but 22 as they were carrying the live man to the surface. He evidently had fallen, a victim of the deadly gas that followed the explosion.

Three or four other bodies were seen by the rescuers.
Joe Blanket was another member of Veal's rescue team.
"I had a rescue team of six men," Veal said. "I was not using a gas mask but I had sent the other men on ahead with the canary bird to test the air."

Find Fresh Air
"There was fresh air where we found Bucsha in a low spot in the mine. Although he had not barricaded himself, the gas had not reached him by some freak maneuver of the gas and air currents."

"Bucsha was sitting in the dark on a steel rail. He was hunched up like a bird when we came upon him. I don't believe he had had anything to eat or drink during the 55 hours he was in the mine."

The rescue committee is comprised of Mrs. Jas. Swearingin, Mrs. J. B. Cromley, Mrs. E. C. Rector, and Mrs. Cora Rader Hood members of the Home committee of the County Farm Bureau.

"Buy A Poppy!" Is Mayor's Plea Here; To Sell War Flower

"Poppy Day" will be observed in Circleville Saturday, May 26. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will sell these immortal flowers on the streets of the city, the funds to go toward helping the disabled soldiers in the veterans' hospital, the orphans and widows of deceased or disabled men who fought in the great war.

The purpose is a highly worthy one, meriting the support of every citizen of Circleville and Pickaway-co.

Therefore, as mayor of the City of Circleville, I call upon every citizen to buy a poppy on Saturday and give liberally to the cause of the boys who helped bring peace to a war-torn world. (Signed) Mayor B. T. Hedges

REVERSE COMMON PLEAS DECISION IN DITCH CASE

Court Of Appeals Decides Important Question In Session Here

The Pickaway-co Common Pleas reversed Tuesday in the case of Ernest D. Blaine against Katharine Lucas and others, by Court of Appeals, and the case has been remanded back to the lower court for a rehearing.

Ernest D. Blaine and other resident land owners of Darby-town, petitioned the county commissioners for the establishment of a county ditch, with the result that the prayer of the petitioner was granted and assessments for the proposed improvement were made and confirmed by the county commissioners. Those opposed to the improvement appealed to the court of common pleas. That court found against the petitioners and dismissed the petition.

Error was prosecuted to the court of appeals to secure a reversal of the judgment of the common pleas court.

The court of appeals says in rendering their opinion, that the record in this case shows that the court of common pleas did not find that the improvement was unnecessary nor that it was not conducive of the public welfare, nor that the benefits would not equal the costs.

The judgment was simply that it is "Adjudged and decreed that the said petition and proceeding thereunder be and the same are hereby dismissed."

The court in rendering their decision were guided by a precedent in the case of Miller vs. Webber, I. C. C. 130 which is as follows:

The location and construction of one ditch by the township trustees to drain certain territory does not exhaust the power of trustees to drain certain territory nor confirm it to deepening, widening, etc., of such previous constructed ditch, nor are trustees in the location of ditches restricted to the course of the natural flow of the surface water.

The only limitation as to the number, course, and location of township ditches is, that they shall be conducive to the public health, convenience and welfare. The opinion was rendered by Judge W. H. Middleton of Waverly, presiding judge, in which Judge Thomas of Portsmouth concurred. Charles H. May represented Ernest D. Blaine; C. A. Waldon, Abner Smith and Sinkins represented Katharine Lucas and others.

The reception committee is comprised of Mrs. Jas. Swearingin, Mrs. J. B. Cromley, Mrs. E. C. Rector, and Mrs. Cora Rader Hood members of the Home committee of the County Farm Bureau.

The program is to open at 10 a. m., and has been arranged so that all attending shall have an opportunity to learn the devices thru which mere man, and other diet exacting members of the family may be taught to eat spinach, carrots, parsnips, etc., and really like 'em.

TEACHERS ARE EMPLOYED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Professor Eagleson Is Again Superintendent—Others Are Re-Hired

Announcement of the list of teachers who will take charge of the various class rooms in the high school and other buildings in Circleville was made Tuesday by the Board of Education.

Professor J. O. Eagleson has efficiently taken charge of city schools as principal and superintendent for the past 10 years, and "continuance in his present position as superintendent for another two-year term, announced by the board, will be pleasant news to many of his friends."

A letter was received by the board from Professor R. E. Cain, declining re-election as principal of the high school. He will be missed by many, and his resignation is viewed with regret. No successor has been named as yet.

The list of high school teachers follows:

C. F. Zaenglein, manual training.
Gale Watts, teacher.
Velma Watson, teacher.
Elma Rains, teacher.
Fred Watts, teacher.
Margaret Mattinson, teacher.
Gertrude Pigman, domestic science.

Louise Kuhlman, teacher.
Wylie Fetherlin, teacher.
James P. Swearingin, teacher and coach.

Helen Wittich, music director.
E. L. Daley, grade supervisor.
Louise Crawford, principal.
Florence Hoffman, principal.
Ethel Stein, principal.
A. A. White, principal.

Grade Teachers
The following teachers were elected in the grades:

Marie Hamilton.
Emily D. Yates.
Florence Brown.
Lucile Crist.
Elizabeth Helwegson.
Marvile Mader.
Dorothy MacArthur.
Lucile Neundig.
Sophia Parks.
Merle Reid.
Jeannette Rowe.
Vera Walters.
Margaret Mills.
Ruth Stout.
Elizabeth Tolbert.
Marguerite Fohl.
Hazel Palm.
Mildred Barthelmas.
Bernice Buskirk.
Alice Phillips.
Mary B. Lamb.
S. T. Rife.

Following another examination of teachers, additional teachers will be elected and their names will be announced through the columns of this paper.

The Corn Bill Bug, not commonly an enemy of the corn crops, has severely damaged quite an acreage of corn during the last week, in Pickaway-co.

This insect, a dark slate colored beetle with a prominent bill, attaches this bill to the small corn plant just under the surface of the ground. The plant is girdled causing injury.

The Corn Bill Bug lives in the beetle stage about 3 weeks.

There is no way to poison this insect. If the corn has been sufficiently damaged to require replanting—the original planting should be left. Straddle the present rows with the corn planter, leave the present planting as a trap for the bugs until the second planting should be cultivated.

The larvae of the bill bug live on the root bulbs of timothy and blue grass. The corn in which the most damage has been discovered, is that which has been planted on timothy soil.

The dry weather has been a factor in making conditions ideal for this insect damage.

FROM WAR ZONE

Should Extreme Emergency Warrant Action, U. S. Government Is Set

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Evacuation of all American from north China has been decided upon by the U. S. government in case of an extreme emergency in the increasingly menacing military situation there, it was authoritatively stated here today.

Plans already completed call for withdrawal not only of civilians but of American armed forces as well. The first step would be to remove the legation and all civilians to Tientsin, this to be followed by withdrawal of American troops to the same city.

The Asiatic fleet is now concentrating near Chefoo within easy sailing distance of Tientsin and would be called upon if needed to remove Americans from that city.

Orders for the wholesale evacuation can be issued without further instructions, by American Minister MacMurray and Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol when they consider it necessary.

COLUMBUS, O., May 21.—The state emergency board has appropriated $75,000 to be used in testing cattle of the state for tuberculosis.

"Marrying Mayor" Is Title Soon To Be Given Executive

They'll soon be calling Circleville's executive the "Marrying Mayor."

To speed up the ceremony and at the same time be at hand when the marriage certificate is filled out many couples have gone to Mayor B. T. Hedges so that he may unite them in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Although the mayor is a busy person he seems to take great delight in performing the ceremony even though he does get the least bit nervous and flustered.

It is a trial for any person to tie the bonds of marriage about two willing subjects and the nervous strain is hard on this officiating person. But our mayor has not refused a call yet.

A Herald reporter was lucky enough to be on hand immediately after one of these ceremonies to observe the actions of the mayor.

Mr. Hedges, as has been stated, was rather nervous and ill at ease for perhaps five minutes after the ceremony but he quickly recovered and signed the marriage certificate in a rather shaky manner.

With all due respect to Mr. Hedges we would say that he could marry John Gilbert and Greta Garbo and never turn a hair.

NO CLUE AS YET
TO MISSING GIRL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 22.—The disappearance of 10-year-old Beatrice Rosenbaum may become one of Youngstown's mysteries.

Today, eight days after the girl vanished, from the front yard of her home, the organized search of 500 school boys having failed, Police Chief J. M. McNicholas admitted that his men are without a single clue with which to work on.

SEEK BURIAL COSTS
J. M. Murray and Company, Greenfield morticians, have brought suit against Reese Ankrom in common pleas court, seeking judgment for $388.00 with interest from December 29, 1925.

The undertaking company claims that amount is due them from Ankrom for their services, material and expense in burying Ankrom's father on the above date.

Luther E. Yapple of Chillicothe represents the plaintiffs. The defendant is well known here. He came here frequently as salesman for a tobacco company.

203 MILLIONS IS CUT THAT'S RECOMMENDED

While Both Branches Of Legislature Work With Feverish Speed

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Federal taxpayers will save approximately $203,000,000 annually if the House accepts the revenue bill it received today from the senate and President Coolidge signs the measure.

The bill passed the senate late last night carrying substantially the sum recommended by the finance committee on the basis of treasury department estimates. It had been debated more than three weeks.

As originally passed by the House last December, the bill provided for a $289,000,000 tax cut, but senate amendments reduced the total about $86,000,000. The original and the amended bills now go to conference for adjustment of differences.

The senate measure is expected to prevail, however, since it is based on March 15 tax returns, unknown when the House passed the first bill, and because it is understood to have administration approval.

Principal provisions of the senate bill are:

1.—Reduction of the tax rate on corporation incomes from 12 1-2 to 12 1-2 per cent and increased exemption from $2,000 to $3,000. Total reduction $94,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The House sent to the senate today numerous bills passed yesterday with feverish speed. Others already approved by the senate went to conference or the White House.

ONE RESCUED ALIVE AND FIVE BODIES IN MINE ARE REMOVED

KNOWN LIST OF DEAD REACHES 72 IN TRAGEDY

Frank Bucsha, One of 210 Buried, Found Living After 55 Hours Of Prison

MATHER, Pa., May 22.—Five more bodies were brought from the Mather mine at 8 a. m., today, bringing the known death list in Saturday's explosion to 72.

MATHER, Pa., May 22.—Life was found today among the men trapped in the underground workings of the Mather coal mine.

Frank Bucsha, one of the 210 miners entombed when an explosion wrecked the workings Saturday, was rescued alive after 55 hours of imprisonment.

The news of the Bucsha rescue spread rapidly throughout the little mining village and new hope was born that more of the 135 miners still missing will be found alive.

The death toll stood at 72 and the survivors at 13 when Bucsha was rescued by Bruce Veal.

Perched upon a rail, waiting for dean or rescue, Bucsha was found by Veal one and a half miles from the shaft entrance to the mine and more than 300 feet underground. He was in butt 22.

Find Friend's Body
Bucsha said another man whose name he did not know stayed a long time with him in the little dark pit, but became restless and started to grope his way out. The rescuers said they passed the body of Bucsha's friend only a short distance from butt 22 as they were carrying the live man to the surface. He evidently had fallen, a victim of the deadly gas that followed the explosion.

Three or four other bodies were seen by the rescuers.

Joe Blanket was another member of Veal's rescue team.

"I had a rescue team of six men," Veal said. "I was not using a gas mask but I had sent the other men on ahead with the canary bird to test the air."

Find Fresh Air
"There was fresh air where we found Bucsha in a low spot in the mine. Although he had not barricaded himself, the gas had not reached him by some freak maneuver of the gas and air currents."

"Bucsha was sitting in the dark on a steel rail. He was hunched up like a bird when we came upon him. I don't believe he had had anything to eat or drink during the 55 hours he was in the mine."

THIEVES STEAL TEN CASES EGGS AT WILLIAMSPORT

The Shaw Produce company at Williamsport was entered Tuesday about 2 a. m. and ten cases of eggs were taken from the company's stock.

Access was gained to the store through a side window and the thieves opened the safe in the store room by working the combination. Nothing of value was taken from the safe.

Mrs. W. D. Heiskell who lives across the street from the produce company was aroused about 2 a. m. by the noise that the intruders made while moving the crates about the store room. She was unable to give the alarm in time to apprehend the robbers.

From all indications and the opinion of investigators the thieves escaped towards Cincinnati. It is not known what steps authorities will take although they hope to find more clues.

"Buy A Poppy!" Is Mayor's Plea Here; To Sell War Flower

"Poppy Day" will be observed in Circleville Saturday, May 26. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will sell these immortal flowers on the streets of the city, the funds to go toward helping the disabled soldiers in the veterans' hospital, the orphans and widows of deceased or disabled men who fought in the great war.

The purpose is a highly worthy one, meriting the support of every citizen of Circleville and Pickaway-co.

Therefore, as mayor of the City of Circleville, I call upon every citizen to buy a poppy on Saturday and give liberally to the cause of the boys who helped bring peace to a war-torn world.

(Signed) Mayor B. T. Hedges

ACHIEVEMENT DAY IN CITY IS ON FRIDAY

Program At Memorial Hall To Show How One Can Eat Properly And Like It

The Nutrition Achievement Program is to be held in Memorial Hall, Circleville, on next Friday, May 25.

The program is to open at 10 a. m., and has been arranged so that all attending shall have an opportunity to learn the devices thru which mere man, and other diet exacting members of the family may be taught to eat spinach, carrots, parsnips, etc., and really like 'em.

The Programme Committee has been assured that Miss Ina Lindman, Educational Dept., Ball Bros. Canning Bros., Miss Verna Elsing, Director of Home and Community Dept., Ohio Farm Bureau, Miss Lelia C. Ogle, Nutrition Specialist, Ohio State University, and Miss Minnie C. Price, Extension Home Economics Leader, Ohio State University who are to appear on the program, shall arrive in Circleville early Friday morning.

The eats committee, Mrs. Shirley Dreisbach, Mrs. Harry Dunlap, Mrs. Fannie Kirk, Mrs. Clarence McAbee, and Mrs. Wm. Scothorn have completed arrangements for the dinner.

The reception committee is comprised of Mrs. Jas. Swearingen, Mrs. J. B. Cromley, Mrs. E. C. Rector, and Mrs. Cora Rader Hood members of the Home committee of the County Farm Bureau.

That Odor, Folks, Was Merely Burnt Butter Or Milk

Residents in the vicinity of Water and High streets thought there must have been a deluge of limberger cheese descended in their midst, Monday night about 6:30. There was an odor drifting around that could not be ignored. Every one glanced with suspicion at his neighbors' kitchens, and even cellars. No clue was discovered, and still the smell continued.

All kinds of possible sources were suggested, but everyone who could, got into their machines and drove to the open spaces. Some reasons given for the odor were burnt buttermilk at the creamery, or scorched butter. Even the carnival occupying a field nearby was mentioned.

About 9 p. m. the atmosphere began to clear, and people settled down to their neglected suppers with the mystery unsolved.

CHICAGO, May 22.—The Big Ten track and field championships at Evanston Friday and Saturday will have 325 entries, it was announced. Winners of first and second places will automatically qualify for the final Olympic trials at Harvard stadium.

Court Of Appeals Decides Important Question In Session Here

The Pickaway-co Common Pleas reversed Tuesday in the case of Ernest D. Blaine against Katharine Lucas and others, by Court of Appeals, and the case has been remanded back to the lower court for a rehearing.

Ernest D. Blaine and other resident land owners of Darby-twip, petitioned the county commissioners for the establishment of a county ditch, with the result that the prayer of the petitioner was granted and assessments for the proposed improvement were made and confirmed by the county commissioners. Those opposed to the improvement appealed to the court of common pleas. That court found against the petitioners and dismissed the petition.

Error was prosecuted to the court of appeals to secure a reversal of the judgment of the common pleas court.

The court of appeals says in rendering their opinion, that the record in this case shows that the court of common pleas did not find that the improvement was unnecessary nor that it was not conducive of the public welfare, nor that the benefits would not equal the costs.

The judgment was simply that it is "Adjudged and decreed that the said petition and proceeding thereunder be and the same are hereby dismissed."

The court in rendering their decision were guided by a precedent in the case of Miller vs. Webber I. C. C. 130 which is as follows:

"The location and construction of one ditch by the township trustees to drain certain territory does not exhaust the power of trustees to drain certain territory nor confirm it to deepening, widening, etc., of such previous constructed ditch, nor are trustees in the location of ditches restricted to the course of the natural flow of the surface water."

The only limitation as to the number, course, and location of township ditches is, that they shall be conducive to the public health, convenience and welfare. The opinion was rendered by Judge W. H. Middleton of Waverly, presiding judge, in which Judge Thomas of Portsmouth concurred. Charles H. May represented Ernest D. Blaine; C. A. Weldon, Ernest and Simkins represented Katharine Lucas and others.

SCIOTO VALLEY INSTALLS WIRE; FIRST IN YEARS

The first new trolley wire installed since the road was built 25 years ago is being put up on the Scioto Valley traction line through Circleville by a gang of line and repair men. A solid copper wire will be erected over the entire system.

In some places the old wire, which originally was half an inch thick, was worn through to almost the thinness of a ribbon, caused by the heavy roller of the street car constantly passing over it year after year.

Replacing of the old wire by the new costs $600 a thousand pounds. The new wire is more than half an inch in thickness.

Men replacing it are risking their lives but by standing on a raised wooden platform they receive only a slight tingling sensation from the high-powered line. They are also protected through the use of special gloves.

READY TO TAKE ALL AMERICANS FROM WAR ZONE

Should Extreme Emergency Warrant Action, U. S. Government Is Set

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Evacuation of all American from north China has been decided upon by the U. S. government in case of an extreme emergency in the increasingly menacing military situation there, it was authoritatively stated here today.

Plans already completed call for withdrawal not only of civilians but of American armed forces as well. The first step would be to remove the legation and all civilians to Tientsin, this to be followed by withdrawal of American troops to the same city.

The Asiatic fleet is now concentrating near Chefoo within easy sailing distance of Tientsin and would be called upon if needed to remove Americans from that city.

Orders for the wholesale evacuation can be issued, without further instructions, by American Minister MacMurray and Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol when they consider it necessary.

Mrs. Viola Smith of Santa Fe, N. M., has entered an exhibit at the Woman's World Fair, being held this week in Chicago. She owns a turquoise mine and the jewelry adorning her arms is the product of her own mine.

CORN BILL BUG DAMAGES COUNTY CROPS OF CORN

Dark, Slate-Colored Beetle Lives But Three Weeks, However

The Corn Bill Bug, not commonly an enemy of the corn crops, has severely damaged quite an acreage of corn during the last week, in Pickaway-co.

This insect, a dark slate colored beetle with a prominent bill, attaches this bill to the small corn plant just under the surface of the ground. The plant is girdled causing injury.

The Corn Bill Bug lives in the beetle stage about 3 weeks.

There is no way to poison this insect. If the corn has been sufficiently damaged to require replanting—the original planting should be left. Straddle the present rows with the corn planter, leave the present planting as a trap for the bugs until the second planting should be cultivated.

The larvae of the bill bug live on the root bulbs of timothy and blue grass. The corn in which the most damage has been discovered, is that which has been planted on timothy sod land.

The dry weather has been a factor in making conditions ideal for this insect damage.

ASHVILLE YOUTH FACES CHARGES

Roy Payne, 19, was arrested Monday night in Ashville by Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter. He was brought to Circleville and lodged in the county jail as no definite charge has been placed against him.

When apprehended by Deputy Porter he had in his possession a revolver and a pair of brass knuckles. The charge at present is "possession of concealed weapons".

CARNIVAL OPENS IN CIRCLEVILLE

J. L. Cronin's Shows opened on the Mason lot Monday night with a good attendance. The circus sideshow, the athletic show and the colored minstrel show attracted most of the attention. The rides and various concessions caught their share of the crowd. The company, known as "America's best carnival company," will remain here all week. It originated in Chillicothe, and came here from Marion.

"Marrying Mayor" Is Title Soon To Be Given Executive

They'll soon be calling Circleville's executive the "Marrying Mayor".

To speed up the ceremony and at the same time be at hand when the marriage certificate is filled out many couples have gone to Mayor B. T. Hedges so that he may unite them in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Although the mayor is a busy person he seems to take great delight in performing the ceremony even though he does get the least bit nervous and flustered.

It is a trial for any person to tie the bonds of marriage about two willing subjects and the nervous strain is hard on this officiating person. But our mayor has not refused a call yet.

A Herald reporter was lucky enough to be on hand immediately after one of these ceremonies to observe the actions of the mayor.

Mr. Hedges, as has been stated, was rather nervous and ill at ease for perhaps five minutes after the ceremony but he quickly recovered and signed the marriage certificate in a rather shaky manner. With all due respect to Mr. Hedges we would say that he could marry John Gilbert and Greta Garbo and never turn a hair.

NO CLUE AS YET TO MISSING GIRL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 22.—The disappearance of 10-year-old Beatrice Rosenbaum may become one of Youngstown's mysteries. Today, eight days after the girl vanished, from the front yard of her home, the organized search of 500 school boys having failed, Police Chief J. M. McNicholas admitted that his men are without a single clue with which to work on.

SEEK BURIAL COSTS

J. M. Murray and Company, Greenfield morticians, have brought suit against Reese Ankrom in common pleas court, seeking judgment for $388.60 with interest from December 29, 1925.

The undertaking company claims that amount is due them from Ankrom for their services, material and expense in burying Ankrom's father on the above date. Luther B. Yapple of Chillicothe represents the plaintiffs. The defendant is well known here. He came here frequently as salesman for a tobacco company.

203 MILLIONS IS CUT THAT'S RECOMMENDED

While Both Branches Of Legislature Work With Feverish Speed

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Federal taxpayers will save approximately $203,000,000 annually if the House accepts the revenue bill it received today from the senate and President Coolidge signs the measure.

The bill passed the senate late last night carrying substantially the sum recommended by the finance committee on the basis of treasury department estimates. It had been debated more than three weeks.

As originally passed by the House last December, the bill provided for a $289,000,000 tax cut, but senate amendments reduced the total about $86,000,000. The original and the amended bills now go to conference for adjustment of differences.

The senate measure is expected to prevail, however, since it is based on March 15 tax returns, unknown when the House passed the first bill, and because it is understood to have administration approval.

Principal provisions of the senate bill are:

1.—Reduction of the tax rate on corporation incomes from 13 1-2 to 12 1-2 per cent and increased exemption from $2,000 to $3,000. Total reduction $94,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The House sent to the senate today numerous bills passed yesterday with feverish speed. Others already approved by the senate went to conference or the White House.

SAMUEL M. OWENS DIES AFTER LONG PERIOD ILLNESS

Retired Farmer, Born In Wayne-Twp, Leaves Five Children

Samuel M. Owens died at the home of his son, George S. Owens at Bexley, Columbus, Monday afternoon at 2 p. m.

The deceased has been ill six months with complications. He was born in Wayne-twip December 2, 1849, and was a son of Samuel M. and Eliza Sullivan Owens. He married Miss Mary Ellen Stevens; she died in November, 1923. Mr. Owens was a retired farmer.

Three sons and two daughters survive. They are: Charles C. Owens, Mrs. Hershel Alkire of this city; Mrs. B. M. Pontious of Wayne-twip; Samuel and George S. Owens of Columbus. Four children died in infancy.

Of his immediate family, one sister, Mrs. Anna K. Knowles of Oregon is living. A sister, Miss Nannie E. Owens died two weeks ago. Fifteen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren are living. The remains were brought to this city Monday evening by Melvin Rinehart, funeral director, and was taken to the home of his son Charles C. Owens on East Corwin-st, where the funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at three p. m. Rev. Franklin McElfresh of the Methodist church will officiate. Interment will be made in Forest cemetery.

HIS AD BROUGHT RESULTS—

Ed Prose put the following classified ad in The Circleville Herald for just one day, Monday:

STRAYED OR STOLEN: —Saturday, small female beagle, bound, black and white, with brown head. Return to 158 E. Union-st. Reward.

This ad just cost a cent a word and this morning, not very many hours after the ad had started to circulate in over 3,300 homes of Circleville and Pickaway-co, the dog was returned to his owner by a reader of this paper who had found the animal.

JUNE 1 SET AS LIVESTOCK DAY LEWIS INFORMED

Ohio Experiment Station At Wooster To Draw Many For Occasion

Friday, June 1st, is Livestock Day at the Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio, according to the announcement just received by County Agent Lewis from Paul Gerlaugh, Livestock Chief of the Station.

The programme shall consist of a review of the results secured in the feeding trials conducted at the station this last year.

Comparisons of different feed combinations in the production of beef, pork, and mutton will be demonstrated thru out this program. Some special features of the programme shall include figures showing the cost of maintaining a breeding herd of cows, cost of securing feeder calves thru this method, the value of oats, and polma mids in pork production, and value of various rations in maintaining ewes thru out breeding and lambing periods.

Livestock will be held at Wooster (only) this year. A special invitation is extended to all livestock farmers to visit their experiment station and study these results on Friday, June 1st.

CANOE RACE AT MET
The greatest canoe race ever filmed in motion pictures has been produced in "Rose-Marie," the film version of the famous musical play, which is coming to the Metropolitan theater, Wednesday.

More than 250 birchbark canoes, shipped from Canada to California, were used in the filming of an early sequence representing the return of the trappers to the fur-trading post following a winter's work in the Canadian north woods. The first man to arrive was acclaimed the hero of the old trapping days and was given the "key to the city."

Joan Crawford and James Murray have the principal romantic roles of "Rose-Marie" which was produced by Lucien Hubbard for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Safety Organization
The National Safety council is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization for the promotion of safety, sanitation and health in the industrial, public and home life of the whole world. It was founded in 1913, when a little group of employers, appalled by the useless and unnecessary sacrifice of life and limb occurring every year, determined upon a relentless fight against accident causes. Today the council has a membership of over 4,500 in industrial concerns, government departments, insurance companies, schools, libraries, miscellaneous organizations and individuals. Its influence is felt throughout more than 10,000 workshops and among more than 10,000,000 workers, whose lives are safer because of its service. Its scope has grown from national to international.

Letters To the Editor

A HOSPITAL A NECESSITY

Mr. Editor:
It is encouraging to learn through the columns of your paper that our Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club are interested in obtaining a hospital.

Pickaway-co has been entirely too long without the advantages of a hospital at its county seat. Every day the necessity for such an institution becomes more and more apparent. The poor and the rich are provided for at the hospitals of the large cities with no drain upon their finances, for the first group gets services free and the second group is well able to afford any expense. Between these two groups are the citizens, probably more than seventy-five per cent of the inhabitants of the county, who want to pay for what they get, be it food, clothing, or medical services, but if necessity compels hospital treatment in a city for any member of the family they find themselves crippled financially. The alternative to a heavy burden of debt is to withhold the treatment necessary for recovery. Admitted there are a few types of illness which require very expert surgery and that these cases should be sent to the proper experts in the large medical centers. It remains a fact that the great majority of accidents, sickness and surgery can be treated at a home hospital with much less expense much more convenience to relatives and friends who wish to visit the sick.

Another reason which the general public should have at heart is that a hospital will be equipped with all the modern instruments and appliances for diagnosis and treatment which no local medical man can afford to buy. In the cities the medical men have the advantage of this hospital outfit. As it is now the medical men of Circleville and the County are handicapped by the want of an institution where all modern means of diagnosis and cure are free for them to use for advantage to the community and encouragement to themselves.

Th writer believes that Circleville should now lay the foundation, by building a hospital, for furnishing adequate and efficient preventive and therapeutic medicine to the population of the county at a reasonable cost to the individual patient. Unless such an institution is provided it is going to be impossible to attract competent, young medical men to locate the community. The future will indeed be dark for that seventy-five per cent of our population who wants to pay for medical services and get value received. When accident or sickness afflicts members in the community. The future will be wanting and the large fees of city medical men and excessive hospital charges if taken advantage of will entail an unbearable burden of expense.

ICE BOX PROVES ROUTE TO MAN'S STOMACH TODAY

That the ice box is a new route to a man's affections, via the well trodden road of his stomach, is being revealed this week by the National Refrigerator Check-Up, sponsored by the National Association of Ice Industries. Local displays feature the many advantages of the ice box, and local dealers and ice men are spending their time explaining to housewives why they should check up conditions of their refrigerators in order to free their families from food dangers, intrigue their appetites with fresh flavor-preserved foods, and achieve more leisure by proper use of the ice box. Circleville firms taking part in the check-up are Mason Bros., Crist Bros., H. G. Stevenson, and the Circleville Ice Co.

Ice box cakes, meat loaves, jellied salads, and other so-called luxuries become a part of the average family dinner if the ice box works as it should. Vegetables can be prepared the day ahead.

Necessary information, which many refrigerator-using wives have never been conscious of, is being distributed. Methods of testing ice boxes, simple ways of keeping them spotlessly clean, points to watch in any refrigerator are all a part of this refrigerator health campaign. Local ice dealers are placing themselves at the public's disposal and invite all interested to inspect the various kinds of ice boxes, and to call on them for assistance in checking up the efficiency of the refrigerators now in use. Ice delivery men will gladly assist housewives in making their refrigerator tests, advise them as to proper use of the ice box, and supply them with printed instructions as to the care of the ice boxes.

Trade In Your Old Refrigerator ON A LEONARD

During Refrigerator Check-up Week, The Circleville Ice Co., makes a liberal allowance in ICE, on your old refrigerator. This is done to induce people to buy better Refrigerators—Why? Better refrigeration means a saving in ice, a saving in food—a wise investment in health and economy.

The "LEONARD" Refrigerator is made in many sizes and styles, cork insulated, with proper air circulation to preserve the foods—and uses less ice.

FREE ICE

All this week—Refrigerator Check-Up Week—every purchaser of a refrigerator approved and recommended by us will receive FREE ICE COUPONS FOR OLD REFRIGERATOR. These may be used as cash payment for ice at any time. This offer is made to stimulate interest in better refrigerators and refrigeration. Ask your ice-man to tell you more about it, or call or write for information.

We Are Offering Free Advisory and Check-Up Service This Week

If your REFRIGERATOR is in good working condition and is kept well-iced, it is one of your most important safeguards to the health of your family and the economy of your food budget. Are the walls and doors of your refrigerator sufficiently well insulated? Does the air inside circulate freely? Are you so placing foods as to insure best preservation and prevent mixed odors and tastes? Do the rabbits, gaskets, hinges, latches and all the doors fit snugly? We can help you get authoritative answers to these and many other equally important questions. This is your opportunity to find out how your present refrigerator can be improved or whether you should have a new one. Let us help you check-up, without cost or obligation on your part. All this week is REFRIGERATOR CHECK-UP WEEK, but we urge that you act immediately to insure prompt attention.

How to Figure Cost of Household Refrigeration

Interest on the original investment in a refrigerator and ten per cent annual depreciation should be added to the cost of maintenance, in addition to any charges for repairs (which in the case of an ice refrigerator are little or nothing). Then add the cost of monthly upkeep. Figured on this basis, you will find that a good ice refrigerator offers the most economical means of refrigeration available.

JUNE 1 SET AS LIVESTOCK DAY LEWIS INFORMED

Ohio Experiment Station At Wooster To Draw Many For Occasion

Friday, June 1st, is Livestock Day at the Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio, according to the announcement just received by County Agent Lewis from Paul Gerlaugh, Livestock Chief of the Station.

The programme shall consist of a review of the results secured in the feeding trials conducted at the station this last year.

Comparisons of different feed combinations in the production of beef, pork and mutton will be demonstrated thru out this program. Some special features of the programme shall include figures showing the cost of maintaining a breeding herd of cows, cost of securing feeder calves thru this method, the value of oats, and polmo mids in pork production, and value of various rations in maintaining ewes thru out breeding and lambing periods.

Livestock will be held at Wooster (only) this year. A special invitation is extended to all livestock farmers to visit their experiment station and study these results on Friday, June 1st.

CANOE RACE AT MET

The greatest canoe race ever filmed in motion pictures has been produced in "Rose-Marie," the film version of the famous musical play, which is coming to the Metropolitan theater, Wednesday.

More than 250 birchbark canoes, shipped from Canada to California, were used in the filming of an early sequence representing the return of the trappers to the fur-trading post following a winter's work in the Canadian north woods. The first man to arrive was acclaimed the hero of the old trapping days and was given the "key to the city."

Joan Crawford and James Murray have the principal romantic roles of "Rose-Marie" which was produced by Lucien Hubbard for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Safety Organization

The National Safety council is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization for the promotion of safety, sanitation and health in the industrial, public and home life of the whole world. It was founded in 1913, when a little group of employers appalled by the useless and unnecessary sacrifice of life and limb occurring every year, determined upon a relentless fight against accident causes. Today the council has a membership of over 4,500 in industrial concerns, government departments, insurance companies, schools, libraries, miscellaneous organizations and individuals. Its influence is felt throughout more than 10,000 workshops and among more than 10,000,000 workers, whose lives are safer because of its service. Its scope has grown from national to international.

Letters To the Editor

A HOSPITAL A NECESSITY

Mr. Editor:

It is encouraging to learn through the columns of your paper that our Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club are interested in obtaining a hospital.

Pickaway-co has been entirely too long without the advantages of a hospital at its county seat. Every day the necessity for such an institution becomes more and more apparent. The poor and the rich are provided for at the hospitals of the large cities with no drain upon their finances, for the first group gets services free and the second group is well able to afford any expense. Between these two groups are the citizens, probably more than seventy-five per cent of the inhabitants of the county, who want to pay for what they get, be it food, clothing, or medical services, but if necessity compels hospital treatment in a city for any member of the family they find themselves crippled financially. The alternative to a heavy burden of debt is to withhold the treatment necessary for recovery. Admitted there are a few types of illness which require very expert surgery and that these cases should be sent to the proper experts in the large medical centers, it remains a fact that the great majority of accidents, sickness and surgery can be treated at a home hospital with much less expense much more convenience to relatives and friends who wish to visit the sick.

Another reason which the general public should have at heart is that a hospital will be equipped with all the modern instruments and appliances for diagnosis and treatment which no local medical man can afford to buy.

In the cities the medical men have the advantage of this hospital outfit. As it is now the medical men of Circleville and the County are handicapped by the want of an institution where all modern means of diagnosis and cure are free for them to use for advantage to the community and encouragement to themselves.

Th writer believes that Circleville should now lay the foundation, by building a hospital, for furnishing adequate and efficient preventive and therapeutic medicine to the population of the county at a reasonable cost to the individual patient. Unless such an institution is provided it is going to be impossible to attract competent, young medical men to locate the community. The future will indeed be dark for that seventy-five per cent of our population who want to pay for medical services and get value received. When accident or sickness afflicts members in the community, the future will zens competent medical services will be wanting and the large fees of city medical men and excessive hospital charges if taken advantage of will entail an unbearable burden of expense.

Howard Jones.

ICE BOX PROVES ROUTE TO MAN'S STOMACH TODAY

That the ice box is a new route to a man's affections, via the well trodden road of his stomach, is being revealed this week by the National Refrigerator Check-Up, sponsored by the National Association of Ice Industries. Local displays feature the many advantages of the ice box, and local dealers and ice men are spending their time explaining to housewives why they should check up conditions of their refrigerators in order to free their families from food dangers, intrigue their appetites with fresh flavor-preserved foods, and achieve more leisure by proper use of the ice box. Circleville firms taking part in the check-up are Mason Bros., Crist Bros., H. G. Stevenson, and the Circleville Ice Co.

Ice box cakes, meat loaves, jelly salads, and other so-called luxuries become a part of the average family dinner if the ice box works as it should. Vegetables can be prepared the day ahead.

NEW HOLLAND IS SCENE OF SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

Perry-twp's Sunday School convention on Sunday, held at New Holland, proved to be a real success.

The attendance was good and those present resolved that the Sunday School can't get along without such meetings.

It was also resolved to keep abreast of the times and that it is faulty to think the youth of today can be brought up in the old-fashioned way.

The program of the meeting follows:

Song—My Wonderful Dream—School.

Prayer—Rev. Wolford.

Music—Atlanta Orchestra.

Ivory Palaces (vocal)—Mrs. Dennis and Mary Vincent.

Talk—Rev. F. H. Smith.

Supt's reports—Mrs. Adkins, J. J. Minton, O. C. Dennis and Webster French.

Necessary information, which many refrigerator-using wives have never been conscious of, is being distributed. Methods of testing ice boxes, simple ways of keeping them spotlessly clean, points to watch in any refrigerator are all a part of this refrigerator health campaign. Local ice dealers are placing themselves at the public's disposal and invite all interested to inspect the various kinds of ice boxes, and to call on them for assistance in checking up the efficiency of the refrigerators now in use. Ice delivery men will gladly assist housewives in making their refrigerator tests, advise them as to proper use of the ice box, and supply them with printed instructions as to the care of the ice boxes.

MANDELL HAS AN EASY TIME WHIPPING M'LARNIN

CHAMPION IS WINNER IN 11 OF 15 ROUNDS

Outpoints His Challenger From Start To Finish—Rickard Is Loser

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 22.—Those who have been complaining of Sammy Mandell's stewardship since he won the lightweight championship two summers ago from Rocky Kansas must continue to seek for a challenger to supplant the black-haired little shiek from Rockford, Illinois.

Jimmy McLarnin, born in Belfast and bred on the west coast, failed to even so much as Ruffle Mandell's stay-combed hair in their 15 round championship bout before 30,000 spectators at the Polo grounds Monday night.

Mandell outpointed his challenger from start to finish, closed McLarnin's left eye and made a monkey of the lad from Vancouver at in-fighting. Entering the ring a 7 to 5 favorite in the fight which had been thrice postponed, Sammy proved himself in every way a worthy champion and justified the betting odds by winning all the way.

After the first couple of rounds, when it was apparent that Mandell had no intention of succumbing to the knockout punch upon which Jimmy's backers had counted so heavily, McLarnin confined his attack to the body. His right hand beat a rosy tattoo on the title-holder's body.

The champion won eleven of the 15 rounds, two went to McLarnin on sheer aggressiveness and two were even. A fast left hand, which somehow always managed to beat Jimmy to the punch, was the champion's most effective blow. After he had McLarnin slowed up and no longer dangerous, Mandell began to hook his left viciously to the face. His right, Sammy kept cocked and ready for retaliation, but seldom used.

McLarnin proved vastly over-rated. If he is the best of the lightweights who seek Mandell's crown, the title is safely Sammy's for some time to come.

The coast boy was awkward in his persistency. He would bore in at Mandell round after round; only to be tied up in the clinches and out-generated.

It was a fast fight, with action all the way, and not one of the throng at the Polo grounds raised a voice in protest at any time.

The receipts were a disappointment to Tex Rickard, as the gross receipts were estimated at $137,000 and Mandell had received a guarantee of nearly half that sum to defend his title here. Rickard may have broken even on the show, but the chances are that he lost money.

It is difficult to see who is to beat Sammy Mandell out of his title this year. The champion never was extended, and could have put up a vastly more strenuous fight if the occasion had warranted it.

PAYNE IS STILL LEADING RUNNERS

DEPOSIT, N. Y., May 22.—While a preceding motorcycle popped out a warning that C. C. Pyle's trans-continental race was coming, the remaining runners of the derby started today for Liberty, 58 miles away.

It was somewhat of a wan crowd that started out. Yesterday's 74-mile run from Waverly had its effect.

But Andrew Payne, the Claremore, Okla., leader and John Salo, Passaic, N. J., Finn, continued in the van. Payne still has more than 16 hours lead over his eastern competitor.

One Is About Gone
The fisher, most closely related to the murren, is exclusively American, including a rather narrow range from Nova Scotia to northwestern British Columbia, and in the Alleghenies, Rocky mountains and Sierras Cascade ranges. It was never a common species, says Nature Magazine, and the effect of settlement and over-hunting has been its virtual extinction over most of its range, yet it still has little protection and the high price that the skin commands makes it a continued menace.

Gas Once a Curiosity
When the first gas lights were introduced in Baltimore in 1816, they were placed on exhibition in the museum there and crowds paid admission to see them. Newspaper accounts described them as marvelous "lights without oil, tallow, wick or smoke." The exhibit proved so successful that a gas company was formed the next year, and the streets of the city were soon lighted by the lamps. This was one of the first commercial transactions in the United States—Pittsburgh, Pa., Courier-Intelligencer.

JIMMY REFUSES TO GIVE ALIBI

NEW YORK, May 22.—Jimmy McLarnin refused to alibi for his failure to win the lightweight title from Sammy Mandell.

"I did the best I could," McLarnin leaned over the ropes and told newspapermen after the verdict, "But that was not enough. Maybe I'll get another chance."

Mandell proved himself a deserving champion and a fine sportsman. Once he hit McLarnin low with his left and said, "Oh, I beg your pardon."

"He's a game kid," Mandell said afterward, "But he never hurt me. He never used his right hand because I had a perfect defense for it."

"YOU CAN BUY A BIGGER CAR BUT NOT A BETTER ONE"

The success of the new Oldsmobile is easy to understand when you know why this new Six was created and how it was perfected.

It was created specifically for those whose preference is for a truly fine automobile. It was developed to standards of quality, style and value that made no compromise with price. It was proved by over a million miles of relentless testing.

In performance, in comfort, in ease of control, in sophisticated beauty—it invites the most exacting comparison with the finest and costliest cars being built today.

Its new high-compression engine—embodying the most advanced features of design—provides true fine-car smoothness, snap and speed. MANDELL HAS AN EASY TIME WHIPPING M'LARNIN

CHAMPION IS WINNER IN 11 OF 15 ROUNDS

Outpoints His Challenger From Start To Finish—Rickard Is Loser

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, May 22—Those who have been complaining of Sammy Mandell's stewardship since he won the lightweight championship two summers ago from Rocky Kansas must continue to seek for a challenger to supplant the black-haired little shiek from Rockford, Illinois. Jimmy McLarnin, born in Belfast and bred on the west coast, failed to even so much as Ruffle Mandell's stay-combed hair in their 15 round championship bout before 30,000 spectators at the Polo grounds Monday night.

Mandell outpointed his challenger from start to finish, closed McLarnin's left eye and made a monkey of the lad from Vancouver at in-fighting. Entering the ring a 7 to 5 favorite in the fight which had been thrice postponed, Sammy proved himself in every way a worthy champion and justified the betting odds by winning all the way.

After the first couple of rounds, when it was apparent that Mandell had no intention of succumbing to the knockout punch upon which Jimmy's backers had counted so heavily, McLarnin confined his attack to the body. His right hand beat a rosy tattoo on the title-holder's body.

The champion won eleven of the 15 rounds, two went to McLarnin on sheer aggressiveness and two were even. A fast left hand, which somehow always managed to beat Jimmy to the punch, was the champion's most effective blow. After he had McLarnin slowed up and no longer dangerous, Mandell began to hook his left viciously to the face. His right, Sammy kept cocked and ready for retaliation, but seldom used.

McLarnin proved vastly over-rated. If he is the best of the lightweights who seek Mandell's crown, the title is safely Sammy's for some time to come.

The coast boy was awkward in his persistency. He would bore in at Mandell round after round; only to be tied up in the clinches and out-generated.

It was a fast fight, with action all the way, and not one of the throng at the Polo grounds raised a voice in protest at any time.

The receipts were a disappointment to Tex Rickard, as the gross receipts were estimated at $127,000 and Mandell had received a guarantee of nearly half that sum to defend his title here. Rickard may have broken even on the show, but the chances are that he lost money.

It is difficult to see who is to beat Sammy Mandell out of his title this year. The champion never was extended, and could have put up a vastly more strenuous fight if the occasion had warranted it.

PAYNE IS STILL LEADING RUNNERS

DEPOSIT, N. Y., May 22—While a preceding motorcycle popped out a warning that C. C. Pyle's trans-continental race was coming, the remaining runners of the derby started today for Liberty, 58 miles away.

It was somewhat of a wan crowd that started out. Yesterday's 74-mile run from Waverly had its effect.

But Andrew Payne, the Claremore, Okla., leader and John Salo, Passaic, N. J., Finn, continued in the van. Payne still has more than 16 hours lead over his eastern competitor.

One Is About Gone

The fisher, most closely related to the marten, is exclusively American. Inhabiting a rather narrow range from Nova Scotia to northwestern British Columbia and in the Alleghenies, Rocky mountains and Sierra Nevada ranges. It was never a common species, says Nature Magazine, and the effect of settlement on, unrestricted trapping has been its virtual extinction over most of its ranges, yet it still has little protection, and the high price that the skin commands insures its continued pursuit.

Gas Once a Curiosity

When the first gas lights were introduced in Baltimore, in 1816, they were placed on exhibition in the museum there and crowds paid admission to see them. Newspaper accounts described them as marvelous "lights without oil, tallow, wick or smoke." The exhibit proved so successful that a gas company was formed the next year, and the streets of the city were soon lighted by the lamps. This was one of the first commercial installations in the United States.—Popular Mechanics Magazine

JIMMY REFUSES TO GIVE ALIBI

NEW YORK, May 22—Jimmy McLarnin refused to alibi for his failure to win the lightweight title from Sammy Mandell.
"I did the best I could," McLarnin leaned over the ropes and told newspapermen after the verdict, "But that was not enough. Maybe I'll get another chance."
Mandell proved himself a deserving champion and a fine sportsman. Once he hit McLarnin low with his left and said, "Oh, I beg your pardon."
"He's a game kid," Mandell said afterward, "But he never hurt me. He never used his right hand because I had a perfect defense for it."

MENTAL ACROBATICS

A new book called "Schools" attracted our attention the other day. It is written by Mr. A. B. See, who has acquired great wealth in the business of manufacturing elevators. Curious as to what an elevator manufacturer's ideas about schools could be, we read parts of the book here and there.

Mr. See finds nothing commendable in the present status of women or education. He laments the day when father yielded his kingship in the home, and finds that school teachers are not doing the right kind of a job at all.

If Mr. See can remember the day when father was king in the home, his faculties certainly serve him well. Perhaps the father nominally was king once, and what he said was law, but really the world pretty generally knows that Dad always was more or less a King George, who delivered his message to Parliament and then sat back while Parliament did pretty much as it pleased. Mother nearly always has been Parliament, and her edicts the last word.

About education Mr. See thinks the alphabet one all-important thing. Learning of the alphabet, both forward and backward, he asserts, constitutes the basis of a good education. Then should come spelling, arithmetic, penmanship, geography and English. Dead languages should be buried and vocational subjects learned by actual performance. Foreign languages are unnecessary. Psychology means nothing.

Perhaps Mr. See got his idea of teaching the alphabet from the increment he manufactures, an elevator being able to go both up and down. But education and elevators are slightly different lines. You might spend a lifetime studying an elevator and still be woefully short an education. And, we fail to see where knowing the alphabet backwards is going to help man attain the ripe joys of possession of the world's wisdom.

The world is too full of mental acrobats now, folk with a one-track or, if you will, one-elevator mind. In their own groove mental acrobats are very efficient—they know their alphabet backwards, they know when to press the lever to stop at a given floor and they can tell you any given necessary fact about their own work. But, off their single track, they cannot run; their alphabet is useless.

Precisely what America and the world need is broadening. Mr. See probably could fool a number of his readers on how much cable goes into an elevator hoist, but most of his readers know enough about an elevator, its intentions, habits and ideas, to get along very well.

Therein is the secret of education—basic principles, and not, we think, in mental gymnastics. The purpose of education after all, is somewhat the same as Mr. See's elevators—to lift us all to planes of greater and happier knowledge. Whatever elevator we take should be going in that direction.

LOANS TO SALARIED MEN

New York City seems to have found a way to put the loan shark out of business.

The loan shark, you know, is the usurer who makes loans to salaried workers and generally collects something like 300 per cent before the loan is paid. Usually he operates just within the law; it is almost impossible to put a crimp in his activities.

But now the National City bank, New York's largest, announces it will make loans of $50 to $1000 to salaried people without collateral. Six per cent will be charged and the borrower will have a year in which to pay.

This is a magnificent undertaking. It will enable the poor man who needs money to get it at a decent rate. And observers in New York believe that it will send the loan shark away for good. No one will want to borrow at exorbitant rates when he can get money from a reputable bank for six per cent.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce says she is to be married soon to a prominent American, but does not give his name. Perhaps she hasn't met him yet—Lorain O. Times Herald.

When Summer Comes

When summer comes
I love to sit
And dream away
The sultry hours,
And watch enchanted
Evenings flit
Away, to welcome
Morning flowers;
Here at my sill
The daylight brings
A bird to bill
And coo at me,
And every soft note
That he sings
Adds some full
Measure
To my glee;
The brook runs rampant
With a song,
As though real glad
To be alive,
And there's the quaint
Old dinner gong.
And busy bees
Here in their hive;
A thousand, beautiful
Reasons why
There's joy in
Every day,
And who is there
Who'd care to
Die
When summer trips
Around our
Way—

And what we mean to say
Is,
It's great to be alive
And know
That in this world
You have a part,
And every day life is
A show
That either warms
Or dulls the heart—
So be you merry,
Every one,
And if today you've
Lost some ground,
Remember,
There's another
Sun,
And other days
Will come
Around.

Old San Francisco

BY ALLIE LOWE, MILES

Copyright, 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Buckwell, San Francisco boss, seeks to secure valuable Vasquez ranch by guile and force. His lawyer's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores Vasquez and helps save the ranch. Buckwell tries in vain to wreck their love affair. Old Vasquez dies as result of Buckwell's persecution. Dolores and Terry escape Buckwell as a Chinaman in effort to avenge Vasquez's death, but are kidnapped by Buckwell and held prisoners.

"We will not talk of him!" observed Buckwell with curt finality. His eyes, that had been scrutinizing her so absorbingly, noticed the exquisite jade piece presented by Lu Fong. It made a gorgeous big blotch of green against Dolores' black gown. Buckwell drew in his breath sharply. "There is only one man in Frisco who has jade like that—Lu Fong—the damnable trouble maker!" His eyes narrowed angrily, and, rising quickly, he snatched it from Dolores' neck and tossed it contemptuously to Jimmy and the Texas Kid, who stood dutifully in the background waiting for their chief's next orders.

They examined the exquisitely carved stone, snapped it in two, and each took half. The jade carved, together with the bag of gold Buckwell had given them to divide, made their night's profit.

"Stay where you are, my proud, brave girl."

good pickings. They were more than satisfied.

Turning back to Dolores with a suave smile, Buckwell indicated the door overhead. "In the chamber above," he said, "wait those to whom you told a certain story last night."

Dolores' eyes lighted up with hope. She felt that if Lu Fong had come to capture Buckwell there would be a chance for her deliverance and an opportunity to find out about Terry.

Noting her suppressed excitement, Buckwell continued: "It won't do you any good! You are now about to find it your duty to tell these same yellow gentlemen that your accusations regarding me were false."

Buckwell paused for effect, but it was not necessary. Dolores was agitated at his audacity. Nevertheless, an unconscious sigh escaped her lips. It was a relief to know why she had been kidnapped and if Buckwell wanted her to again face the Tong men he would probably require Terry's presence, too, which meant they had not killed him.

Dolores smiled nervously. It was the only rest she dared give her relief. But her thoughts were absorbed in trying to devise some plan to elude Buckwell's hypnotic eye and get out of his underground den. She was fully determined not to play into his hand by lying. The whole purpose of the trip that had developed into a series of hideous experiences was to wreak vengeance upon Buckwell, not to do favors for him.

"When you are brought in to face the Tong leaders," continued Buckwell, glaring at her menacingly, "I want you to swear that your statement about me was merely the delusion of a grief-stricken brain."

Dolores returned Buckwell's gaze in silent, contemptuous defiance. "Is that clear?" he asked loudly. "You understand what you are to do?"

Buckwell was accustomed to being obeyed, and Dolores was not accustomed to such rude treatment. "I will not say that!" Her determined voice gave no indication of the fear that engulfed her. Her beautiful young lips were curled in scorn.

"You are proud, aren't you?" taunted Buckwell, with a forced laugh. "Why are you Spanish Vasquez superior to the rest of us Bahrts?" He answered himself as

Dolores stood erect, with angry eyes flashing dangerously. "You're no better than I am, except that your noble family faces death bravely. We will see if you are as fine and courageous as you think." He stood before her and said slowly, "There is something you will not face so coldly."

Afraid of being touched, Dolores retreated to the other side of a large chair and watched Buckwell with eyes of terror.

Turning quickly to Jimmie and the Texas Kid, he said, "Bring him in!"

As they disappeared behind a large manifold screen a blood curdling yell filled the room. Dolores screamed aloud in terror and her heart almost stopped beating.

It was the dwarf. He had been listening intently to every word and yelled out in wild excitement to make Dolores look in his direction.

She did, and recoiled in panic at the sight of his hideous face and twisted body leaning at her from the barred cage in the wall.

"Shut up!" said Buckwell in a stern voice, hurling a book in his direction.

It fell on the floor, but that did not matter; it had served to silence the dwarf. However, he continued to listen and watch, not missing anything that transpired in the chamber.

His powers of observation were keen and he knew more about his renegade brother's affairs and the workings of the underground doors than the latter imagined.

The scuffling of feet drew Dolores' attention to the other side of the room. Not knowing what to expect, but hoping against hope it was the men returning with Terry, she whirled about.

"Terry!" she cried, with a mingling of relief and love, and rushed toward him impulsively.

"Stay where you are, my proud, brave girl," said Buckwell, grasping her wrist in a vice-like grip that hurt and infuriated her.

It would do Dolores no good to speak, and Terry was incapable of utterance. Still bound and gagged, he looked at her with a world of questions, misgivings and love in his pain-filled eyes. His mouth was bleeding. There was a cruel gash on his forehead that had not had attention. His clothes were dusty, bloodied and muddled. Her heart went out to him in compassion.

She thanked God that he was alive and longed to do something to relieve his suffering.

Buckwell seemed to derive a cruel satisfaction from watching the young lovers anguish.

He had given him the Crystal Palace, but his merciless brain suddenly decided the score was not yet even and he gave a quiet order to Jimmie, then drew back and watched Dolores.

The man threw Terry on his face. Jimmie took his neck, the Texas Kid gripped his feet, and they began to bend him backward with brutal steadiness.

Terry's face turned livid red and moist from the pain.

The dwarf screamed and rattled the bars of his prison.

"Stop! Stop! Oh, don't!" cried Dolores in anguish, rushing to Terry, threw herself on the floor beside him and tried to touch his face with loving hands.

"Let him go!" she screamed, and in reaching up tried to push Jimmie away. She even clawed frantically at his hands, but he paid no attention to her entreaties and continued the slow push backward that was almost tearing Terry's muscles from bones that could not stand much more strain.

"Make them stop!" entreated Dolores, appealing to Buckwell with tear-filled eyes.

"So—you are afraid of death, aren't you?" commented Buckwell, with a calm smile.

"Oh, you—you cruel beast!" sobbed Dolores. "Please, please make them stop! They'll kill him!"

"That will do," Buckwell raised his voice and motioned his men to desist.

They released Terry, and he writhed on the floor in agony.

"Well," inquired Buckwell threateningly of Dolores, "will you tell the Tong men above what I wish or shall we continue to prepare your young man for his grave?"

"Oh!" Dolores gasped in mental torment and pressed her cold fingers against her throbbing temples. She knew that if she obeyed Buckwell by lying to the Tong leaders Terry would be safe, but her grandfather's death would go unavenged. She was the last of the Vasquezes and had taken a sacred oath beside her grandfather's dead body to uphold the honor of their name. She could not do it by lying. While, on the other hand, she could not endure being responsible for Terry's murder. She loved him, and he was all she had in the world.

"Oh, dear God—dear God," she prayed, "what shall I do?"

Averages Untrustworthy

Recent insurance experience has shown that average tables are often misleading. That average weights are by no means the best weights. At ages under thirty the best conditions apparently exist among those whose weights are from five to ten pounds above the average. After age thirty the most favorable conditions are found among those whose weights are below the average. The amount below average increases with advancing age and at age fifty persons seem to be at their best when their weights are as much as twenty or thirty pounds below the average. Insurance experience shows that underweight is definitely an advantage so far as long life is concerned.

Watercress Good Food

The list of foods the doctor says you should eat has been augmented by a new one, watercress. This familiar garnish for meat and salad is a remarkably rich source of the vitamins necessary for growth and the scourge-preventing vitamin C. Dr. Katherine B. Fennell and Dr. Elizabeth H. Fennell of the University of London have found that watercress contains small quantities of vitamins B and C. The green leaves contain seasonal variation, however, in its growth-promoting properties, the investigators have found, being more effective with laboratory animals in this respect in spring and summer than in winter.

Odd Contradiction in

Behavior of Mankind

When a man goes into a field to devote a day's work to producing food crops for his needs, he labors with intelligence, and accepts world experience. There is an agreed time to plant and harvest, and he follows this knowledge; in everything, while in the field, he works as effectively as possible. He naturally accepts all information that has been tried out in the centuries. He finds truth an asset; folly troublesome and expensive.

But when the same man goes to church, or lodge, political convention, or social affair, he changes his attitude; he believes in sentiment, and denies fact and experience in half he does.

MENTAL ACROBATICS

A new book called "Schools" attracted our attention the other day. It is written by Mr. A. B. See, who has acquired great wealth in the business of manufacturing elevators. Curious as to what an elevator manufacturer's ideas about schools could be, we read parts of the book here and there.

Mr. See finds nothing commendable in the present status of women or education. He laments the day when father yielded his kingship in the home, and finds that school teachers are not doing the right kind of a job at all.

If Mr. See can remember the day when father was king in the home, his faculties certainly serve him well. Perhaps the father nominally was king once, and what he said was law, but really the world pretty generally knows that Dad always was more or less a King George, who delivered his message to Parliament and then sat back while Parliament did pretty much as it pleased. Mother nearly always has been Parliament, and her edict the last word.

About education Mr. See thinks the alphabet one all-important thing. Learning of the alphabet, both forward and backward, he asserts, constitutes the basis of a good education. Then should come spelling, arithmetic, penmanship, geography and English. Dead languages should be buried and vocational subjects learned by actual performance. Foreign languages are unnecessary. Psychology means nothing.

Perhaps Mr. See got his idea of teaching the alphabet from the increment he manufactures, an elevator being able to go both up and down. But education and elevators are slightly different lines. You might spend a lifetime studying an elevator and still be woefully short an education. And, we fail to see where knowing the alphabet backwards is going to help man attain the ripe joys of possession of the world's wisdom.

The world is too full of mental acrobats now, folk with a one-track or, if you will, one-elevator mind. In their own groove mental acrobats are very efficient—they know their alphabet backwards, they know when to press the lever to stop at a given floor and they can tell you any given necessary fact about their own work. But, off their single track, they cannot run; their alphabet is useless.

Precisely what America and the world need is broadening. Mr. See probably could fool a number of his readers on how much cable goes into an elevator hoist, but most of his readers know enough about an elevator, its intentions, habits and ideas, to get along very well.

Therein is the secret of education—basic principles, and not, we think, in mental gymnastics.

The purpose of education, after all, is somewhat the same as Mr. See's elevators—to lift us all to planes of greater and happier knowledge. Whatever elevator we take should be going in that direction.

LOANS TO SALARIED MEN

New York City seems to have found a way to put the loan shark out of business.

The loan shark, you know, is the usurer who makes loans to salaried workers and generally collects something like 300 per cent before the loan is paid. Usually he operates just within the law; it is almost impossible to put a crimp in his activities.

But now the National City bank, New York's largest announces it will make loans of $50 to $1000 to salaried people without collateral. Six per cent will be charged and the borrower will have a year in which to pay.

This is a magnificent undertaking. It will enable the poor man who needs money to get it at a decent rate. And observers in New York believe that it will send the loan shark away for good. No one will want to borrow at exorbitant rates when he can get money from a reputable bank for six per cent.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce says she is to be married soon to a prominent American, but does not give his name. Perhaps she hasn't met him yet.—Lorain, O., Times Herald.

The RAMBLER

When Summer Comes

When summer comes
I love to sit
And dream away
The sultry hours,
And watch enchanted
Evenings flit
Away, to welcome
Morning flowers;
Here at my sill
The daylight brings
A bird to bill and
Coo at me,
And every soft note
That he sings
Adds some full
Measure
To my glee;
The brook runs rampant
With a song,
As though real glad
To be alive,
And there's the quaint
Old dinner gong,
And busy bees
Here in their hive;
A thousand, beautiful
Reasons why
There's joy in
Every day,
And who is there
Who'd care to
Die
When summer trips
Around our
Way—

And what we mean to say
Is,
It's great to be alive
And know
That in this world
You have a part,
And every day life is
A show
That either warms
Or dulls the heart—
So be you merry,
Every one,
And if today you've
Lost some ground,
Remember,
There's another
Sun,
And other days
Will come
Around.

Old San Francisco

BY ALLIE LOWE MILES

Copyright, 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Buckwell, San Francisco boss, seeks to secure valuable Vasquez ranch by guile and force. His lawyer's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores Vasquez and helps save the ranch. Buckwell tries in vain to wreck their love affair. Old Vasquez dies as result of Buckwell's persecution. Dolores and Terry disclose Buckwell as a Chinaman in effort to avenge Vasquez's death, but are kidnapped by Buckwell and held prisoners.

"We will not talk of him!" observed Buckwell with curt finality. His eyes, that had been scrutinizing her so absorbingly, noticed the exquisite jade piece presented by Lu Fong. It made a gorgeous big blotch of green against Dolores' black gown. Buckwell drew in his breath sharply. "There is only one man in Frisco who has jade like that—Lu Fong—the damnable trouble maker!" His eyes narrowed angrily, and, rising quickly, he snatched it from Dolores' neck and tossed it contemptuously to Jimmy and the Texas Kid, who stood dutifully in the background waiting for their chief's next orders.

They examined the exquisitely carved stone, snapped it in two, and each took half. The jade revealed, together with the bag of gold Buckwell had given them to divide, made their night's profit.

"Stay where you are, my proud, brave girl."

good pickings. They were more than satisfied.

Turning back to Dolores with a suave smile, Buckwell indicated the floor overhead. "In the chamber above," he said, "wait those to whom you told a certain story last night."

Dolores' eyes lighted up with hope. She felt that if Lu Fong had come to capture Buckwell there would be a chance for her deliverance and an opportunity to find out about Terry.

Noting her suppressed excitement, Buckwell continued: "It won't do you any good! You are now about to find it your duty to tell these same yellow gentlemen that your accusations regarding me were false."

Buckwell paused for effect, but it was not necessary. Dolores was aghast at his audacity. Nevertheless, an unconscious sigh escaped her lips. It was a relief to know why she had been kidnapped and if Buckwell wanted her to again face the Tong men he would probably require Terry's presence, too, which meant they had not killed him.

Dolores smiled nervously. It was the only vest she dared give her relief. But her thoughts were absorbed in trying to devise some plan to elude Buckwell's hypnotic eye and get out of his underground den. She was fully determined not to play into his hand by lying. The whole purpose of the trip that had developed into a series of hideous experiences was to wreak vengeance upon Buckwell, not to do favors for him.

"When you are brought in to face the Tong leaders," continued Buckwell, glaring at her menacingly, "I want you to swear that your statement about me was merely the delusion of a grief-stricken brain."

Dolores returned Buckwell's gaze in silent, contemptuous defiance. "Is that clear?" he asked loudly. "You understand what you are to do?"

Buckwell was accustomed to being obeyed, and Dolores was not accustomed to such rude insistence. It was a bad combination. "I will not say that!" Her determined voice gave no indication of the fear that engulfed her. Her beautiful young lips were curled in scorn.

"You are proud, aren't you?" taunted Buckwell, with a forced laugh. "Why are you Spanish Vasquez superior to the rest of us? Bah!" He answered himself as

Averages Untrustworthy

Recent insurance experience has shown that average tables are often misleading. The average weights are by no means the best weights. At ages under thirty the best conditions apparently exist among those whose weights are from five to ten pounds above the average. After age thirty the most favorable conditions are found among those whose weights are below the average. The amount below average increases with advancing age and at age fifty persons seem to be at their best when their weights are as much as twenty or thirty pounds below the average. Insurance experience shows that underweight is definitely an advantage so far as long life is concerned.

Watercress Good Food

The list of foods the doctor says you should eat has been augmented by a new one, watercress. This familiar garnish for meat and salad is a remarkably rich source of the vitamin necessary for growth and the scurvy-preventing vitamin C. Dr. Katherine H. Coward and P. Eggleston of the University of London have found. It contains small quantities of vitamin D as well as its small green leaves. The green shows considerable seasonal variation, however, in its growth-promoting properties. The investigations have found, being more effective with laboratory animals in this respect in spring and summer than in winter.

FARM STOCK

SELF-FED SWINE NOW PREFERRED

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Once in a great while the easy way of doing a thing proves to be the best way, also. An instance of such a happy combination of "easy way-best way" conditions which should appeal to all hog raisers is the method adopted by the United States Department of Agriculture in feeding and handling sows and litters during the suckling period.

Sows and litters are now self-fed in preference to being hand-fed at the government farm as a result of conclusions formed from a three-year study of the two methods. The general plan of the test was to place the same kinds of feeds in separate compartments of a self-feeder for sows and litters being suckled, and to give to the hand-fed group. The hand-fed sows and litters were fed all they would readily clean up twice daily while the self-fed sows and litters had free access to the self-feeder at all times.

The results of the three-year test indicate that: Self-feeding sows and litters during the suckling period saves both labor and feed; the self-fed lot was more thrifty than the hand-fed lot; a total of 441 pounds of gain in the self-fed lots, while the hand-fed lots required 609 pounds; the pigs from the self-fed lots made greater daily gains from farrowing to weaning and also during the various tests in which they were subsequently used.

It was noted, also, that no overcrowding of sows and pigs occurred at the self-feeders even where there was a large number of sows with litters in one lot. There is also less danger of overeating when feed is available at all times as is the case with self-feeding.

Sows and litters may be put on the self-feeder as soon as the sows are on full feed after farrowing. The trials also indicate that 81 per cent of sows from self-fed lots when bred settled at the first service, as against 47 per cent for the hand-fed sows.

WILLIAMSPORT

Those from Williamsport attending the D. A. R. card party on last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Orin King in Circleville were: Mrs. Harry T. Dunlap and daughter, Miss Margaret; Mrs. R. E. FARM STOCK

SELF-FED SWINE NOW PREFERRED

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Once in a great while the easy way of doing a thing proves to be the best way, also. An instance of such a happy combination of "easy way-best way" conditions which should appeal to all hog raisers is the method adopted by the United States Department of Agriculture in feeding and handling sows and litters during the suckling period.

Sows and litters are now self-fed in preference to being hand-fed at the government farm as a result of conclusions formed from a three-year study of the two methods. The general plan of the test was to place the same kinds of feeds in separate compartments of a self-feeder as were given to the hand-fed group. The hand-fed sows and litters were fed all they would readily clean up twice daily while the self-fed sows and litters had free access to the self-feeder at all times.

The results of the three-year test indicate that: Self-feeding sows and litters during the suckling period saves both labor and feed; the self-fed lot was more thrifty than the hand-fed lot; a total of 441 pounds of feed was required for 100 pounds of gain in the self-fed lots, while the hand-fed lots required 603 pounds; the pigs from the self-fed lots made greater daily gains from farrowing to weaning and also during the various tests in which they were subsequently used.

It was noted, also, that no overcrowding of sows and pigs occurred at the self-feeders even where there was a large number of sows with litters in one lot. There is also less danger of overeating when feed is available at all times as is the case with self-feeding.

Sows and litters may be put on the self-feeder as soon as the sow is on full feed after farrowing. The trials also indicate that 81 per cent of sows from self-fed lots when bred settled at the first service, as against 47 per cent for the hand-fed sows.

WILLIAMSPORT

Those from Williamsport attending the D. A. R. card party on last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Orin King in Circleville were: Mrs. Harry T. Dunlap and daughter, Miss Margaret; Mrs. R. E. Copeland, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, Mrs. Lee O. Luelien, Mrs. McClelland W. Newhouse, Mrs. Russell McDill, Mrs. Charles W. Schleich, Mrs. George Harman, Jr., Mrs. I. Smith Hulse, Mrs. Harry McGhee, and Mrs. Frank B. Kibby.

The Senior class of the Williamsport high school, also teachers, Miss Shepard, Mr. Copeland and Mr. Dent, were entertained by the Junior class girls to a luncheon on May 8th. The menu consisted of:

Fruit cocktail, baked ham, potatoes au gratin, baked beans, rolls, jelly, lettuce salad, cake, peaches, cocoa.

On Tuesday evening the Seniors and teachers held a weiner roasts on Yellowbud creek.

THAT business concerns that want to increase their business should ADVERTISE.

THAT concerns that are willing and ready to go after business should ADVERTISE.

THAT advertising brings volume business; those who advertise know it—that is why they ADVERTISE.

THAT the invitations they send the public through the advertising columns are very graciously received. ADVERTISE.

THAT the public appreciates this service; they show it by buying from the concerns that ADVERTISE.

THAT advertising is the road to success. ADVERTISE!

THAT the road is easy to find. ADVERTISE!

THAT there is a great future for a concern that builds its business by quality, price, service and ADVERTISING.

THAT when a firm advertises it means the public will know more about their business. ADVERTISE!

ADVERTISING IS ALWAYS WORKING FOR BUYERS AND SELLERS. KEEP IT WORKING! ADVERTISE!

When You Haul Your Own
Ice From Plant

This is the week to trade in your old refrigerator and get a liberal allowance in ICE TICKETS. Better refrigeration means a saving in food and smaller ice bills.

The HERRICK keeps your food fresh, retains the natural flavor and maintains an even temperature. The air in the HERRICK is in constant circulation. It travels steadily in a circle—from ice to food and from food to ice. This continuous movement keeps the air cold, dry and pure. It keeps food fresh. It carries off the free flavors and odors and prevents their inter change in the foods.

The HERRICK comes in different sizes and models.
